Making Dream

Surfaces Attainab

From the Founders

We were not born into wealth. For both of us, life was about survival and our stories could have easily been filed away in the untold section. But we were both blessed with a family that believed in hard work, resilience, and generosity. These values shaped us as people. It was implicit in our household that success wasn't measured by what we achieved for ourselves, but by how we uplifted others along the way.

Philanthropy should come from the heart, not from the desire to leave a name on a building. What truly drives us is the philanthropy that works to find sustainable solutions that create lasting impact.

SMFT's Social Impact work began in 1993 with a clear purpose: transforming lives through education, healthcare, nutrition, and vocational training.

Today, through our philanthropic arms - Sarva Mangal Family Trust and Shah Happiness Foundation, we partner with visionary organizations to create leapfrogging change, accelerating progress far beyond expectations. We have always believed in being a catalyst, to accelerate faster and catapult farther. We believe our role is not to control or direct, but to support bold thinkers and enable ideas that have the power to ripple far beyond our reach.

"We have always believed in being a catalyst, to accelerate faster and catapult farther. We believe our role is not to control or direct, but to support bold thinkers and enable ideas that have the power to ripple far beyond our reach."

RECYCLEFORCE

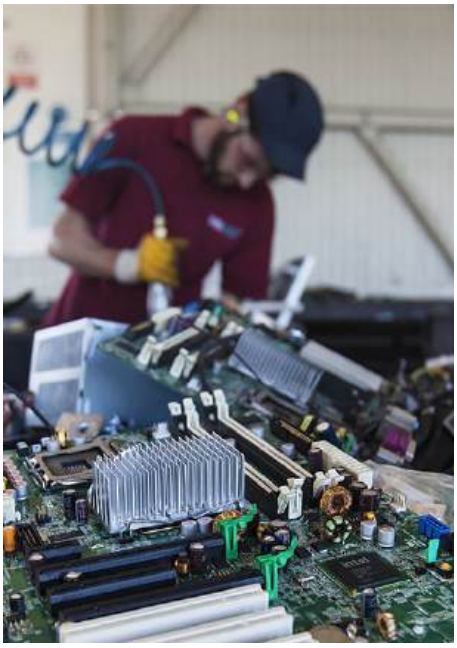

SMFT supports RecycleForce in providing workforce development and environmentally responsible recycling services for individuals facing barriers to employment. RecycleForce strives to create opportunities for second chances through paid job training, life skills development, and secure recycling of electronic and other materials while promoting a cleaner environment and stronger communities.

In the USA, the rate of recidivism is as high as 70%, i.e., for every 600,000 individuals leaving the prison system, around 400,000 get rearrested within 2 to 5 years. Giving a second chance is crucial to disrupt this pattern.

So far, 249 gained transitional employment and 239 advanced to better jobs, annually.

Key Highlights

- Generated $1,461,000 in recycling revenue over the past six months.
- 187 individuals earned industry-recognized credentials, with 145 placed in transitional jobs.
- 239 participants advanced to better employment, including 54 individuals securing careers paying $17+/hour.
- Through the Shah Happiness Second Chance Workforce & Recycling Centre, SHF supports RecycleForce's mission to provide second-chance employment, promote successful re-entry for returning citizens, and strengthen communities through job creation and responsible recycling.

Global Initiative in Focus

LESTONNAC FREE CLINIC

SMFT and SHF support Lestonnac Free Clinic in providing free, high-quality healthcare services to uninsured and low-income individuals.

Lestonnac Free Clinic is dedicated to ensuring access to compassionate medical care regardless of a patient's ability to pay, offering primary healthcare along with dental and vision services to underserved communities.

In response to unmet surgical needs, Lestonnac Free Clinic expanded its services through partnerships with volunteer physicians and philanthropic supporters, leading to the establishment of the Shah Happiness Medical Center.

The aim of this project is to address critical gaps in access to surgical and specialty healthcare by providing free, high-quality medical and surgical services to uninsured and low-income individuals.

Current Impact

- 34K+ surgeries done, annually.

Global Initiative in Focus

ANEMIA MITIGATION PROJECT

SMFT has committed millions of dollars to combat anemia using minimally invasive methods and non-invasive detection technologies.

Through partnerships with leading universities, private sector innovators, and nonprofit organizations, the project focuses on enabling scalable, early anemia detection and improving health outcomes for underserved populations.

The goal of the initiative is to make anemia detection possible at scale by deploying noninvasive technology and collaborative solutions, with the goal of reaching up to 20 million people globally by 2028.

Key Highlights:

- Deployed noninvasive hemoglobin detection technology to enable large-scale anemia screening.
- Conducted over 3.5 million Hb screenings by 2025, expanding early detection efforts.
- Hemoglobin levels improved for more than 34% individuals diagnosed with anemia.
- Achieved an average hemoglobin improvement of 0.9 gm/dL among individuals screened twice, demonstrating measurable health outcomes.

Global Initiative in Focus

VISION CARE PROJECT

SMFT is investing in leading-edge technology to expand access to vision care for underserved populations worldwide.

Through partnership with a startup emerging from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, SMFT is supporting the deployment of an innovative auto-refractor device that enables rapid vision screening and eyeglass prescriptions within minutes. Leveraging its global nonprofit network, SMFT aims to scale vision screening and corrective care efficiently and cost-effectively.

The goal of this initiative is to screen 20 million people and provide 5 million people free eyeglasses.

Key Highlights

- Enabled large-scale vision screening using advanced auto-refractor technology.
- Screened over 8 million individuals, expanding early detection of vision issues.
- Distributed more than 1.2 million pairs of eyeglasses at no cost to individuals in need.
- Improved access to affordable, timely vision care through a scalable, nonprofit-driven delivery model.
